Art Unit: 1772

Election/Restrictions

An initial election/restriction was set forth 9/29/05 and applicant has elected claims 35-78, however, in said initial election/restriction the examiner inadvertently provided the wrong class and subclass for claims 35-78. It is politely requested that applicant again chose among the groups below so that the instant application can be transferred to the appropriate art unit if necessary. The examiner apologizes for any inconvenience caused by the misclassification.

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-34, drawn to an energy system, classified in class 428, subclass 36.9.
 - II. Claims 35-78, drawn to a process for the production or an energy absorbing structural element, classified in class 156, subclass 192.
 - III. Claims 79-92, drawn to a process for absorbing energy, classified in class 280, subclass 748.
 - IV. Claims 93-97, drawn to a process for the production of a plurality of energy absorbing structural elements, classified in class 156, subclass 184.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

2. Inventions II and I are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case the product can be made via a molding.

3. Inventions I and III are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case the process of using can be practiced with a different product such a cushion with springs or a foam material.

4. Inventions IV and I are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case the product can be made via a molding.

5. Inventions II and III are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention II has separate utility such as a pipe. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

6. Inventions II and IV are unrelated. Inventions are unrelated if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case the different inventions are not capable of use together since the first process involves the winding of sheets and the other involves bonding of wound materials end to end.

7. Inventions III and IV are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention IV has separate utility such as a pipe. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

8. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

9. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for any one group is not required for any of the other groups, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

10. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
